- Washington County accounted for 63.4% of regional employment and its average wage was 7.5% higher than the region average and 20.4% higher than the state average.
- Employment growth for the region was above the state average, especially in Washington County, where employment growth (9.0%) exceeded the state's average growth by 3.0%.

Interstate Business Moves

- The region was a net importer of business establishments between 1990 and 2004.
- The region had net a gain of business from California, Montana, Texas, New Mexico, New York, Alaska, Colorado and Illinois.
- The region had a net loss of business establishments that moved to Washington, Arizona, Nevada, Florida, Pennsylvania, Idaho, Michigan and Arkansas.
- In spite of accounting for the majority of out-of-state relocations, Trade and Service industries (Business & Engineering, Accounting, Research, Management & Related) accounted for the largest share of net moves into the region.
- The region's Building Construction industry experienced a net loss of 22 firms over the time period.

Population and Age Demographics

- Population growth in Washington County was above the state average of 3.0% between 2004 and 2006.
- The region has a smaller share of retirement workers (15.1%) than the state average of 16.6%.
- However, within the Educational & Health Services, Natural Resources and Mining & Transportation, the share of retirement age workers was higher than the state average.

Competitive Industries

- The region has 74 industries that met at least one of the competitiveness criteria<sup>1</sup>.
- Of the 74 competitive industries, 34 are projected to grow by 2016.
- Nine of the competitive industries have projected employment growth that will be faster than the regional average.
- Twenty-four of the competitive industries have average wages above the regional average.

<sup>1</sup> Competitive criteria used in this report are as follows: location quotient greater than or equal to 1.25; relative average wage greater than 100%; and differential employment growth rate greater than or equal to 20%.

- Internet Service Providers, Web Search Portals & Data Processing Services, Credit Intermediation & Related Activities and Construction of Buildings are the only three industries where average wages AND employment growth exceed the regional averages.

Introduction

The purpose of this report is to evaluate the employment base, competitive industries and projected growth opportunities in the Oregon Economic and Community Development Department's (OECD) regional service area made up of Clackamas and Washington counties. The framework for the report provides data and analysis to help identify emerging issues and possible areas for strategic economic development initiatives. The report is composed of four sections. Section one details the data sources and methodology for this report. Section two provides an overview of the regional economy by analyzing employment, wages, population growth, business relocation, and age demographics by industry. Section three provides a framework to identify the industries in which the region may have a competitive advantage in developing or expanding regional industry specialization. Section four analyzes the employment and occupational growth opportunities that are projected for the industries identified in section three. Detailed tables of business relocation data are provided in the two appendices.

Section 1: Data Sources and Methodology

This report is based on analysis of statistical data from Oregon Employment Department, Bureau of Labor Statistics, Portland State University's Population Research Center, and Walls and Associates' National Establishment Time Series (NETS) database.

The methodology for this report uses a series of indicators to provide a framework for evaluating the competitive strengths and growth opportunities of the regional economy. The following indicators are used for this report.

Regional Indicators

Section two begins with an overview of the regional economy focusing on private sector business establishments, employment and average wages to determine the geographic distribution and characteristics of employment in the region. This data is followed by recent employment and population growth trends to evaluate the region's strength in creating employment opportunities, and attracting or retaining people in the area.

The next set of indicators in this section examines regional business relocation patterns. One way to evaluate the economic strength of a region is to see if it is able to attract businesses from outside the area. This set of indicators looks at net gain or loss of business establishments by industry and also details the states where business relocations are most likely to occur.

The final set of indicators in this section analyzes of the share of retirement age workers in the region by sector. The impending retirement of the baby-boomer generation will create challenges and opportunities for regional economies. Worker replacement needs may create new employment opportunities, but regions may struggle to find qualified workers.

Competitive Industry Indicators

Section three develops three sets of indicators to identify industries that have a competitive advantage in the region. We examine employment concentrations, relative wage levels and differential growth rates within each region to identify industries that appear stronger in the region than elsewhere in the state. This section of the report uses the same competitiveness indicators as Joe Cortright's "Oregon Industry Clusters" report commissioned by OECDD. More information about the each of the three competitiveness indicators is listed below:

One characteristic of a competitive industry is the concentration of industry employment in a region, which is measured using location quotients. Location quotient is a ratio of the employment concentration of a given industry in a region compared to that industry's employment concentration in the state as a whole. Location quotients above one indicate that an industry's share of employment in the region is greater than the industry's share of employment statewide. For this study we use a location quotient threshold value of 1.25 to determine if an industry has a competitive advantage in the region. A location quotient of 1.25 means that an industry has a 25 percent greater employment concentration in the region than that found in Oregon as a whole.

Another competitive indicator is relative average wage. Regions where industry average wages are significantly above the state average are one sign that the industry has a competitive advantage in the region. Firms generally pay higher wages to higher skilled workers, as a reflection of their higher productivity, greater level of human capital, or to compensate them for the maintenance of firm specific skills. To measure relative average wage we compare industry average annual pay levels for the region and for Oregon in 2006. The threshold for this indicator is 100%, which indicates that the average annual pay in the region is equal to or greater than the state average for that industry.

Differential employment growth rate is the final indicator that was used to determine regional industry competitiveness. If a region's industry consistently outperforms their peers statewide over a period of time this may indicate the existence of a competitive advantage for that industry. To measure differential growth, we examine five-year growth rates for regional and statewide industry employment. The threshold for the relative growth indicator is 20%, which means employment in the industry grew at least 20% faster in the region than it did in the state as a whole.

Employment Growth Projections

Section four looks at the employment growth projections that are associated with each of the regionally competitive industries identified in section three. Growth projections are a good way to determine the industries where employment growth is projected to occur. Current projections cover the period from 2006 to 2016.

Caveats & Limitations

The competitive industries indicators and the employment projections are based on different datasets. The competitive industries indicators are based on private, covered (subject to unemployment insurance) employment while the employment projections are based on non-farm covered and uncovered employment. As a result the employment figures in Table 7 do not match the employment totals in Tables 8 although they are typically very similar.

Section 2: Overview of the Regional Economy

Business Establishments, Employment and Wages

- The region made up of Clackamas and Washington counties accounts for 24.8% of Oregon's private sector employment.
- Average wages in the region are 20.4% higher than the state's private sector average wage.
- Washington County accounts for 63.4 % of the region's private sector employment.
- Both of the two Counties' private sector average wages are above the state average wage.

* Employment totals in Table 8 vary from those in Tables 9, and 10 because they are from different data sources. Table 8 uses covered employment (gathered from firms that pay unemployment insurance) from the Quarterly Census of Employment (QCEW) and Wages. The employment projections in Table 9 and 10 are based on Current Employment Statistics (CES) that include both covered and uncovered employment.
